- Academia

Associate Member Benefits

Technical

Associate Members will receive information of a technical/regulatory nature produced by Lighting Council Australia. This includes:

- Light Technical bulletins and educational/guidance publications available to Members only
- Emails containing updates to technical and regulatory information
- Invitations to periodic Lighting Council-hosted education seminars and workshops
- Presentations on issues of interest to stakeholders, such as major regulatory changes affecting lighting, international trends in lighting, significant technological developments in lighting, interesting case studies.

Networking

Associate Members are invited to attend Members' Meetings which are attended by senior management of member companies. These meetings are held on a rotational basis in Melbourne, Sydney and Brisbane. The meetings provide an opportunity to:

- Share ideas on policy issues of relevance to the lighting industry
- Meet key decision-makers within Lighting Council's membership from across the country
- Hear from guest presenters

Lighting Council also conducts networking dinners following its Members' Meetings. At least once a year the format of dinners includes an after-dinner address from an appropriate guest speaker. Dinners are funded by those attending.

Marketing

On joining, each new Associate Member is given the opportunity to deliver a short presentation on their products/services at a members meeting, with a maximum of two presentations per meeting.

Associate Members are also listed on the Lighting Council website, providing recognition and alignment with the Lighting Council brand.

Associate Membership Fees

Associate Membership fees are broken into three tiers

Lighting Designer Associate- $360.50 (including GST)

For individuals that are undertaking lighting design as a primary business activity and want to stay informed of developments affecting the lighting industry. This tier entitles individuals to accessing technical information and being provided periodic regulatory updates. Information provided to individuals is done so on an in-confidence basis and must not be further distributed.

General Associate - $1,590.44 (includes GST)

For companies involved in wholesale, electrical contracting, facility management, lighting refit upgrades, consulting (engineering etc), architecture, energy management, building management and academia with less than 100 employees. Companies that are eligible for Full Membership are not eligible for Associate Membership.

Wholesaler and Retailer Associate - $3,180.87 (includes GST)

This tier is for chains of electrical wholesalers and retailers with greater than 100 employees. In addition to the listed benefits, this tier also includes two free seats per year at Members Dinners. Hardware and supermarket chains selling lighting also qualify for this category.
